Circular 32 of 2017: PMB Review consultative meetings update

The Council for Medical Schemes (CMS) would like to inform stakeholders that the consultative meetings for the prescribed minimum benefits (PMB) Review have been indefinitely postponed. The decision was made after the consultative meetings that are currently taking place between the National Department of Health (NDoH) and different stakeholders. This decision was taken to allow stakeholders enough time to provide consolidated inputs into the National Health Insurance (NHI) process as per invitation from the NDoH. The decision also provides all key stakeholders with an opportunity to align the PMB Review processes with the new policy developments.

Further details on the way forward will be communicated in due course. The CMS would like to thank stakeholders for their patience and cooperation thus far.
